

If you're looking for plastics you need a stockholder.
A real stockholder. One with stock.

And that's us at Smiths.

All together, in fact, we have over 10 miles of it. And that's just the rod. Enough to keep even the busiest engineer in material.

Whether it's nylon or acetal, polypropelene or PVC, or high performance polymers such as PTFE or Victrex® PEEK™ that you're after, we can help you. And they come in rod, sheet and tube, as well as foil, hexagon and special profiles.

But you may need more than plastics. And with Smiths you know you don't need to go any further. Because we also stock aluminium and alloys. And brass. And copper. And bronze. And stainless steel. And many other non ferrous metals. We have over £8.5 million worth of stock in total.

So you can streamline your needs and make the most of the efficiency that single sourcing provides.
